

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

5 Systems and methods for stabilizing a sloped soil surface are provided which generally include a woven or nonwoven matting, blanket, netting, or other porous material anchored to a bare soil surface, and a bonded fiber mulching material injected into the porous material to form a desirable microclimate effective in promoting growth of vegetation.